IS BADLY INJURED.

Three weeks after the incident a letter was received by the parents of the child stating that no harm would come to her, that she was necessary in a legal case of great importance and that Bertha would be returned unharmed. A letter was also received from Bertha written on a dirty piece of paper and found in the streets of Havre, telling of her position, and although a prisoner in a dark room she knew she was aboard some vessel.

The police went to Havre to investigate. They got trace of the girl, who was taken aboard of a vessel bound for a South American port. Subsequently they learned that the destination of the boat-was a ruse, and instead the vessel sailed for New York, where the girl was landed. Consul-General Bruwaert has enlisted the New York detective bureau in the matter, and upon the urgent advice of his government will spare no time in locating Bertha if she is in New York.

The gwl is lyrge for her age, has chestnut hair, blue eyes and a silknity tilted nose. Her captors are described as full-bearded, swarthy men of about 200 pounds.
